

Profile

Learning and development consultant with a background in Finance, Annick Zinck helps people and international organizations to grow and develop in periods of change. She started her career with PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC) fourteen years ago, first as an auditor and then as management consultant in their Advisory group in Europe. For the last 6 years, she has been running her own management consulting company based in Switzerland, delivering projects to international organizations across Europe.

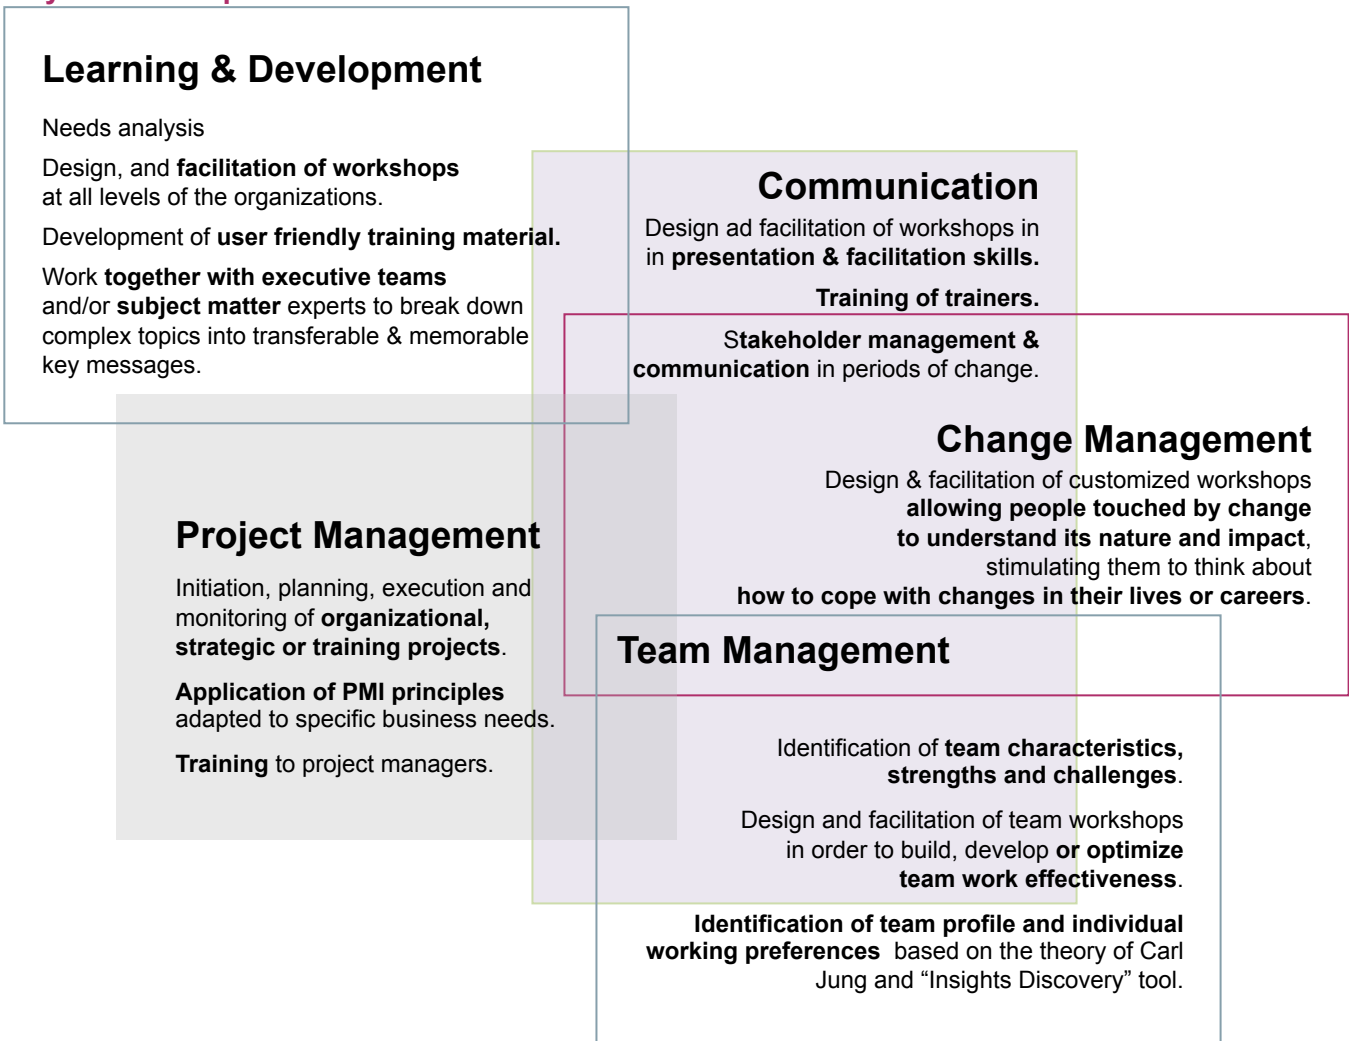

Industry sectors

Experience in Financial Services, Health Care, Nuclear, Public sector, United Nations, Telecommunication, Media, Biotechnology, Air Traffic control, Beverage, Steel, Automotive, Chemical industries.

Roles

Depending on her client's needs, Annick Zinck usually takes one of the following roles in projects: Project Manager, Training consultant, Workshop facilitator, Change Manager and/or Trainer of Trainers.

Key areas of expertise

Personality

Creative, pragmatic and driven by impact and results, Annick likes working with multi-cultural teams, sharing knowledge, promoting discovery and encouraging others to work together in the most effective manner.

So What?

To get a glimpse of who is Annick Zinck, simply click on www.azck.com and she will be right there. Should you be interested in using Annick Zinck's competencies in one of your projects, just “AZck”! She can be contacted per email annick@azck.com or per phone: +41 79 307 79 81.